O 2003-203.003 Balance		The balance is inside a glass container which has a cork in one end and and cellophane with a rubber band on the other end. The balance mechanism inside is entirely quartz and balances on a thin quartz thread. This mechanism is very delicate and is sensitive to one-millionth of a gram. Up to one gram of material can be held on each end. Such balances are used to measure weights of materials in a chemistry setting. The benefit of using quartz is that it is not affected by corrosive gases due to its hardness. This balance was created by Harry Svec and used by Frank Edwards during the Manattan Project. After Edwards moved away, the balance was offered back to Svec, who disposed of the rest of the apparatus and weight chambers but saved the balance beam. It rests on a wooden stand created to fit the apparatus.
O 2003-203.004 Balance, Analytical		This is a Christian Becker Chainomatic Two-Pan Balance used by Harry Svec and another graduate student in the Chemistry Department. It was a part of the department from approximately 1936-1941. Svec used this balance for a PhD research project on bacterially fermenting xylose - a sugar similar to starch found in corn cobs - in order to create an alternative to petroleum for synthetic rubber, of which Iowa could be a major producer. This artifact is a large box made of wood and removable glass, in which the balance mechanism is encased. A drawer in the box contains weights for use with the balance. A badge inside the glass with the mechanism says "Christian Becker, Inc." and on the wood on the right side on a metal plate is inscribed "B-34583." Below that mark on the same side are the words "Des Moines Ordnance Plant 24116, D.M.O.P. Other marks by Christian Becker, Inc. are found on the artifact as well.

O 2005-040.001 Spectrometer, Mass		This artifact consists of the disassembled components of a mass spectrometer manufactured at Iowa State University. Most of the pieces are metal, although a few are glass. The mass spectrometer was possibly used by Harry Svec in the Chemistry Department. Mass spectrometers are used to analyze the amount and type of chemicals in a sample.
O 2005-040.002 Instrument, Chemical		The leak detector consists of a large Mason jar with a brown paper label attached with masking tape on the side, a golden but tarnished metal lid on the top, and the leak detecting instrument inside and sticking out of the top of the jar. The inner instrument is made of metal and small parts of what may be porcelain. It was created by General Electric in 1945 for use with a helium mass spectrometer in order to find gas leaks in devices. Harry Svec may have used this in his work in mass spectrometry.
O 2005-040.003 Sample, Material		The three elements contained here - nickel, germanium, and thallium - are all materials used to calibrate a mass spectrometer. Harry Svec would have used these to calibrate the mass spectrometers with which he worked. Two wires of nickel are contained in a plastic vial, several irregular pieces of germanium are contained in another plastic vial, and a small coil of thallium wire is contained in a plastic vial within a small wooden box.
O 2005-040.004 Sample, Material		Four round sodium blanks with two green Corning glass squares, inside a clear, plastic, cylindrical container. These blanks are used in the process of mass spectrometry, and were likely used by Harry Svec for this purpose.
O 2005-040.005 Sample, Material		A sample of titanium dioxide used in the preparation of titanium tetrabromide to determine the atomic weight of titanium by G.P. Baxter and A.Q. Butler. The titanium dioxide crystals are contained in a brown glass bottle with labels all around the side.

O 2005-091.001 Coin		Round-shaped coin, slightly larger than a quarter. It is a bronze color which indicates rusting/decay - due to that, a lot of the possible writing has withered away.
O 2005-091.002 Artifact, Unidentified		This artifact resembles a metal screw cap with a type of military or fraternity logo on the front. This object has disintegrated due to being buried underground which has led to rusting.
O 2005-091.003 Artifact, Unidentified		This metal object has a red-orange tint which could be due to rusting from being buried underground. The shape resembles a metal calibration weight where the diameter at the bottom of the object is bigger than at the top.
O 2005-091.004 Artifact, Unidentified		This artifact contains two metal balls of relatively the same shape and size. There are cracks on the surfaces of the spheres due to being buried underground. No writing is legible on the object's surface.

Catalog / Objectid / Objname		Description
O 2005-091.005 Artifact, Unidentified		This tiny piece of metal is decorated somewhat similar to that of stained class. It seems as if it must have been a part of jewlery, but the rope/binding it was attached to is no longer present.
O 2005-091.006 Token		This token/coin is around the size of a dollar coin, but slightly larger. There is a crest-like design on the front wih a lion standing on its hindlegs. Underneath is a banner with the words, 'Spectemur Agendo" (it is rather difficult to read due to rust/weather).
O 2005-091.007 Tag, Dog		Inscription on the dog tag is the wording: "STORY COUNTY IOWA, DOG LICENSE TAG, 1938, 1785." The tag is extremely worn out and rusted, but the writing is still legible. There is nothing on the back of the tag.
O 2005-091.008 Lock		This object appears to be some sort of lock, with a small opening to place a key at the bottom. The front and back of the lock as the engraving, "US," which is assumed to stand for "United States." It appears that the rung that is normally at the top of locks is missing.
O 2005-091.009 Bullet		The bullet casing shows signs of decay, but the inscription is still legible. It is in fancy-type font, reading: "Cashmere Banquet, Colgate."

Catalog / Objectid / Objname		Description
O 2005-091.010 Button		The button has a design of a bunch of tiny lines. There are four holes in the center.
O 2005-091.011 Artifact, Unidentified		A metal circle with a tinier circle/ring attached at the top. Could serve a some sort of charm/trinket.
O 2005-091.012 Chain, Key		The key chain/token displays clear rust, especially in the metal rings that are attached to the pendant. On the circular token is an image of two runners.
O 2005-091.013 Bracelet, Charm		The bracelet charm/cuff is bent outwards on the right side. The engravings are as read (from left to right, top to bottom): IOWA DNR, FT, 25351"
O 2005-091.014 Thimble		The thimble shows a lot of decay. It is a standard thimble, with a red stripe going all the way around above the base. Within the red stripe reads: "WORCESTER SAL(?)" and the lettering is bordered by a set of five stars. The missing letter could be a "T," but it is too decayed to be sure.

Catalog / Objectid / Objname		Description
O 2005-091.015 Button		It is a standard button with four holes in the middle.
O 2005-091.016 Artifact, Unidentified		The object seems to be a hunk of rock and metal.

O 2007-207.002 Quilt		Autograph quilt created by the Iowa State University Faculty Women's Club as a gift for Ruth Boast. The quilt is made with traditional patches using the block variously called Chimney Sweep or Christian Cross. When pieced with a muslin center, this block can be used as a signature block, as in this quilt. Signature blocks alternate with white muslin blocks, Blocks are set on point with edge triangles made of the muslin. Four or five (alternating rows) blocks across by six blocks in length. Main block fabric and binding are in a dark bright floral fabric, with small stylized flowers of many varieties and colors, set on a navy background. Each autograph block has a name embroidered on it, presumably by that individual. The backing is a bleached white muslin. The quilt is machine pieced and then hand quilted. The quilting outlines blocks, forms crosses on single-square pieces, and shows a rising sun design in the large set-in triangles. The muslin squares are quilted with a stylized sunflower pattern.

O 2008-R004.002 Board, Cutting		Carved cheese board, out of a light colored wood. Short handle at one end; carved border of connected stars on both sides of board, design also carved onto the handle. The board is square at the handle end, broadening slightly towards the opposite end. Opposite end is curved, like the front of a "D," with each side ending in a pointed horn shape.
O 2008-R004.003 Trivet		Item could be a trivet, for placing hot containers of food on the table, or an ornamental item, hung up on the wall. It is pear shaped; the circular bottom rounds up into handle that contains a hole for hanging. The piece is handcarved form a deep brown hardwood and has a Germanic or Scandinavian style. The center of the circle is incised with a twelve-pointed star. It is encircled by a border of open fans, curved end toward the center of the circle. Reverse has a lighter colored circle set partially into the item, perhaps intended to be like a cork backing piece to keep the entire pad from touching the surface on which it is set. At the top of the handle reverse are carved the initials MWS, slightly connected as in a maker's mark. Penciled into the lighter softwood insert are: "Jo Lois 1960; from Margart Sloss ISU Sloss I.S.U., Thanks for all your help!" There is no information to identify Jo, Lois, or Jo Lois (single person). The edges of the pad are curved slightly outwards.
O 2008-R004.004 Ribbon, Prize		This award ribbon is made up of two components: a white hard plastic circle, and two white ribbons that hang below. The circle has a pinback glued on the reverse. Obverse reads, "Iowa State University Alumni Association" in gold letter making a circle around edge of piece, and "Margaret W. Sloss" in slightly larger, black lettering written across the award horizontally. There is a graphic above her name, giving a small drawing of the ISU Campanile, with clouds, trees, shrubbery around it. The right white ribbon reades "Stange Award" in large gold letters. The left ribbon is blank. Ribbons are attached on reverse with scotch tape.
O 2008-R004.005 Ribbon, Prize		This ribbon is made up of two components: a metal button (metal circle, pinback, front and edges covered with design on paper and clear protective plastic seal) circle, and two ribbons that hang below. One is red, readding "Centennial", and the other (left) M. Sloss. The pin/ribbon was issued as part of the celebration of the centennial of the ISU College of Veterinary Medicine, held in 1979. The front of the upper piece is yellow, with a red illustration of the ISU Campanile and Christian Peterson's "Gentle Doctor" sculpture. The drawing is marked with a 1979 copyright to Biechler. In large black letters, the upper 3/4 of the circle boarder readings "College of Veterinary Medicine", and the years 1879 and 1979 each appear flanking the drwing at center. In smaller red letters, the bottom of the circle reads "Iowa State University," and slightly inset at top, "100 Years and Still Learning."
O 2008-R004.006 Ribbon, Commemorative		This item is a deep blue ribbon, cut diagonally up from left to right along its bottom edge. Pastureland appears in the foreground, with brown hills rising in the landscape beyond the track, which runs horizonally across the piece. There are trees on the hill, and small remnants of snow are scattered across the entire picture. As with many of Held's weavings, there is an underlying pattern of vertical colored stripes, best seen on the reverse. Scene appears related to that in 2009-069.009 and others in this collection.
O 2009-069.009 Picture, Woven		Vertically oriented representational weaving. Piece presents a standing boy in the foreground, holding a horse by its reins, with three sheep and a collie shepherding them. The boy is looking away from the viewer, towards two men carrying away a barrel into the distance, up over hills with bits of snow, plant life, trees, and sky overhead with clouds. There is some purple clover in the pasture. As with many of Held's weavings, there is an underlying pattern of vertical colored stripes, best seen on the reverse. Scene appears related to image in 2009-069.008 and others in the collection.
O 2009-069.010 Picture, Woven		Vertically oriented representational weaving. Depicts a boy lying in a green pasture, which is surrounded by trees and flowers. A hill and the sky appear in the background. Collie is sniffing at boy and wagging its tail; seven sheep in foreground are grazing or simply standing. A white horse is also grazing. An unidentified brown animal is climbing the hill at the rear of the picture. As with many of Held's weavings, there is an underlying pattern of vertical colored stripes, best seen on the reverse. Scene appears related to images in 2009-069.008 and others in this collection.

O 2009-069.011 Picture, Woven		Vertically oriented representational weaving. Depicts a man holding a gray horse's reins, standing in front of a corral of sheep. In the background are a farmhouse and four farm buildings, then trees, and a brilliant sunrise or sunset, in yellow, orange, purple and lavender, with white clouds in front of a light blue sky. As with many of Held's weavings, there is an underlying pattern of vertical colored stripes, best seen on the reverse. Scene appears related to images in 2009-069.008 and others in this collection.
O 2009-069.012 Picture, Woven		Vertically oriented representational weaving. Depicts a boy in overalls and a girl in a yellow flowered dress walking on a path between a hayfield and the edge of a forest. There is a fresh haystack in the near foreground. The piece is largely filled with by the hayfield, with uncut hay showing against the sky at the top of the picture. The boy's dog appears to be walking along between the two people. Chiefly in gold and greens. As with many of Held's weavings, there is an underlying colored vertical strip pattern, best seen on the reverse. Scene appears related to images in 2009-069.008 and others in this collection.
O 2009-069.013 Picture, Woven		Vertically oriented representational weaving. Depicts two boys swimming or bathing in a river near a footbridge. A white horse is tethered at riverside. The river banks are surrrounded by pastureland, rising up a hill in the foreground. Primarily in blues and greens. As with many of Held's weavings, there is an underlying pattern of vertical stripes, best seen on the reverse. Scene appears related to images in 2009-069.008 and others in the collection.
O 2009-069.014 Picture, Woven		Vertically oriented representational weaving. Depicts a little girl in a flowered yellow dress and hat walking in front of a barn with two bays open; one contains a cart. A flock of birds, some resting, some in flight, is clustered around one of the barn's two chimneys. As with many of Held's weavings, there is an underlying vertical colored stripe pattern, best seen on the reverse. Scene appears related to images in 2009-069.008 and others in the collection.
O 2009-069.015 Picture, Woven		Vertically oriented representational weaving. Depicts a steam locomotive pulling two cars (in view) moving along tracks in the near foreground. A cloud of steam billows from funnel and carries along towards the two cars immediately following. A road is slightly further into the foregound, running parallel to the tracks. The foreground shows a hill with pasturing sheep, trees, and the sky with clouds. Mainly in greens with blue and browns. As with many of Held's weavings, there is an underlying vertical stripe pattern in various colors, more visible on the reverse. Scene appears related to images in 2009-069.008 and others in the collection.

Catalog / Objectid / Objname		Description
O 2009-069.016 Picture, Woven		Vertically oriented representational weaving. Depicts a boy bathing in a watering bin used by cows, two of which are standing nearby. There is a pump next to the tub, and a farm building. A group of chickens are feeding in the foreground. Mainly in reds and golds. As with many of Held's weavings, there is an underlying vertical stripe pattern in various colors, more visible on the reverse. Scene appears related to images in 2009-069.008 and others in the collection.
O 2009-069.017 Picture, Woven		Horizontally oriented representational weaving. Depicts an interior scene that includes an old fashioned crank telephone box on a wall, a tabletop with a large pail and an oil lamp, and a small shelf on the wall holding bottles, bowls, and hanging pots. Mainly in yellows and rose. As with many of Held's weavings, there is an underlying (in this case, horizontal) stripe pattern in various colors, more visible on the reverse.
O 2009-069.018 Picture, Woven		Vertically oriented representational weaving. Depicts a corral full of white sheep, with a boy holding a horse by the reins in the foreground. His collie is by his side. In the background are a farmhouse, barns, and various farm outbuildings. Green trees and a brilliant sunrise or sunset fill out the far background. Mainly in greens and yellows, with pink, purple and blue in the sky. As with many of Held's weavings, there is an underlying vertical stripe pattern in various colors, more visible on the reverse.
O 2009-069.019 Picture, Woven		Vertically oriented representational weaving. Depicts two girls wrapped in towels, walking away from the river (foreground) towards farm buildings (far background). Mainly in greens, which emphasize the distance between the farm and the river as the girls walk home. As with many of Held's weavings, there is an underlying vertical stripe pattern in various colors, more visible on the reverse.
O 2009-069.020 Picture, Woven		Horizontally oriented representational weaving on light-weight fabric. Depicts a silver-white spider web woven onto a pastel fabric, with vertical stripes in pinks, yellows, greens, yellows, and oranges, orange and yellow being dominant. Label on reverse side indicates the piece was sent to the 1983 Sioux City Art Center biennial show, with a price of $115.00.

Catalog / Objectid / Objname		Description
O 2009-069.021 Picture, Woven		Vertically oriented symbolic design weaving on light-weight fabric. Depicts abstract vertical designs reminiscent of mediterranean border designs of nested boxes, in a zigzag pattern. This design is repeated in four columns, divided in the center of the weaving by a woven Greek pillar. The design appears as orange designs on a deep violet background. Label on reverse side gives title, "The Pillars of the Community" and author name, and there is an additional slip of paper attached indicating both $100 and $200 prices and the handwritten name of the archives.
O 2009-069.022 Picture, Woven		Vertically oriented symbolic design weaving in light-weight fabric. Depicts an open-boxed basket weave design in an all-over pattern. The design appears as a brown designs on a horizontally striped piece of pastel background fabric. Label on reverse side gives title "Interchange," an alternative title "Squares Interlocked" (erasure of quotation marks on this title indicates it was not the final title according to the person writing the note) and dimensions as well as a $125 price ; an additional slip of paper attached indicates a $200 valuation and the handwritten name of the archives.
O 2009-069.023 Picture, Woven		Vertically oriented representational weaving. Depicts a rainbow trout swimming in the near foreground, with a fly-fishing fly dangling in the water from above its head. The fly itself is made of a wire hook and strands of many colors of thread tied to it. It is woven into place, with the top attached to a long loose thread hanging from the top of the weaving, representing a fishing line. There are multiple schools of fish in the baground, in greens, blue-greens, and purples. The vertical edges are left with the 1/2" unwoven, leaving multicolored ribbon edges free. They appear similar to fish scales. Work is mainly in oranges and yellows. As with many of Held's works in the collection, there is an underlying vertically striped background, more visible on the reverse. Label on reverse side gives title "Rainbow Trout," the artist's name and a price of $300.
O 2009-069.024 Picture, Woven		Vertically oriented nonrepresentational weaving. Consists of geometric patterns woven in vertical stripes. The rectangular piece is made with varying shades of gold, yellow-green and green, more gold on left side gradually becoming more yellow on the right. Patterns show in dark green. Label on reverse side gives title "Stripes Compounded," the artist's name, and a price of $200.
O 2009-069.025 Picture, Woven		Vertically oriented nonrepresentational weaving. Consists of broad chevron patterns woven in vertical stripes and running from top to bottom. The rectangular piece is made with varying shades of tan, peach, gold, and dark green. As with many of Held's pieces, there is a color progression in the vertical plane across the weaving, with some areas appearing more tan or peach, and other appearing to be more gold or orange. Label on reverse side gives title "Switchback," the artist's name, and a price of $150.

Catalog / Objectid / Objname		Description
O 2009-069.026 Picture, Woven		Vertically oriented abstract weaving. Image shows two wandering lines, one yellow, one red, meandering around and through a number of small rectangles of varying sizes. The lines cross only once. The background consists of a series of vertical stripes running the length of the piece, with stripes varying in shades of blue, green, yellow-green, gray, black and teal. Label on reverse side gives title "Our Paths May Cross Again," the artist's name, date ("1991") and a price of $300.
O 2009-069.027 Picture, Woven		Vertically oriented portrait weaving. Image shows an older man with glasses and wearing an open-collared shirt. The background consists of a series of vertical stripes running the length of the piece, with stripes varying in shades of yellow, red, blue, pink and purples. The overall color impression of the portrait is pink. Label on reverse side gives title "R. Burnell Held," and a note that the subject graduated from Iowa State University.
O 2009-069.028 Picture, Woven		Vertically oriented portrait weaving. Image shows a boy standing in front of a brick or concrete block building, smiling, with a brown shirt and shoes, a cap and shorts each in two shades of green, and a green belt with a black buckle. He is standing still with his hands hanging at his sides. The background is in pastels, with a mixture of pink, yellow, and some blue. The overall color impression of the portrait is yellow. Label on reverse side gives title "Too Dressed Up to Play," the author's name, and a price of $200.
O 2009-069.029 Picture, Woven		Vertically oriented weaving. Image shows a geometric lattice matrix in shades of red, pink and orange on a backgrond of greens and blues. The background is woven in vertical stripes. Moving from left to right, colors are gradually darkening shades of green, then gradually darkening shades of blue. Label on reverse side gives title "Rectangular Column," and a price of $60.
O 2009-069.030 Picture, Woven		Horzontally oriented weaving. Representational image of a pig outlined in brown, with brown spots of various sizes. Background is woven in subtle vertical stripes in peaches, light oranges, and pale browns. Label on reverse side gives title "Poogie," and a price of $100. Horizontal threads are cut long and crimped along sizes for added fringe.

Catalog / Objectid / Objname		Description
O 2009-069.031 Picture, Woven		Vertically oriented weaving. Abstract images of circles both overlapping and containing other circles, in colors chiefly in the yellow, orange, red palette. Some blue and magenta add interest. Background woven in yellow, oranges, reds, and tan. Created in two pieces, with the lower piece attached to the bottom left corner of the top piece. It appears that the pieces may be intended to hang with attachment only at that one corner, allowing the lower piece to fall loose. Label on reverse gives a title, "2 part Piece w/ Circles," dimensions and a price of $50.
O 2009-069.032 Picture, Woven		Vertically oriented weaving. A parallel set of seven stripes zigzag across the background. Stripes are in yellow, blues, and greens. Background is a series of vertical strips, running left to write from dark red, to red, to pink, to lightening shades of orange. Label on reverse gives title, "Off Into the Distance," dimensions and price of $60.
O 2009-069.033 Picture, Woven		Vertically oriented weaving. A set of diagaonal stripes cross from the lower left to the upper right corner of the piece, creating the main image; diagonal stripes running perpendicular to the main stripes fill the upper left and lower right corners. Stripes are brown, and cross a background on vertical stripes in shades of red and orange. Label on reverse gives title, "Broad Sweep," dimensions and price of $45.
O 2009-069.034 Picture, Woven		Vertically oriented weaving. Representational images of falling leaves appear in solid or outline yellow on a vertically striped backgound, with stripes running from reds through oranges and magenta. Label on reverse gives title, "Leaf Harvest," and price of $100.
O 2009-069.035 Picture, Woven		Vertically oriented weaving. Representational close-up image of latticework. Lattice in shades of pink, peach, and tan; background in denim blue. Label on reverse gives title, "Plaited Basket," dimensions and price of $50.

Catalog / Objectid / Objname		Description
O 2009-069.036 Picture, Woven		Vertically oriented weaving. Abstract weaving of rows and columns of rectangles, 16 rows by 11columns. Rectangles progress from most intense colors (watermelon, deep blues and greens) in upper left corner to more sunwashed shades in the lower right corner. All are set in a darker frame, black in the vertical, a variety of darker greens and blues in the horizontal. Label on reverse gives author name. No price given.
O 2009-069.037 Picture, Woven		Horizontally oriented weaving. Representational of bluebirds in a bush or tree. O 2009-069.038 Picture, Woven		Vertically oriented weaving. Abstract image in purple, pink, and magenta set against a background of vertical stripes in oranges, reds, and magenta. Label on reverse gives title, dimensions and $75.
O 2009-069.039 Picture, Woven		Vertically oriented weaving. Abstract image of cool colors, ranging from various shades of green, a single shade of blue, and various shaes of purple/indigo/lavender. The background includes those various colors, and stitched over that are forest green diamonds that run horizontally along the textile. Label on reverse gives title, "Three Vessels on a Calm Sea" dimensions and $125 price.
O 2009-069.040 Picture, Woven		Vertically oriented representational weaving. A tree stands tall along the right edge of the piece, with green grass at its feet, leading the eye upwards and away through the lighter green and yellows of plants in the field. Label on reverse gives title, "Edge of the Field," dimensions and $75 price.

Catalog / Objectid / Objname		Description
O 2009-069.041 Picture, Woven		Vertically oriented abstract weaving. Piece is woven chiefly in red, purple and magenta, with one horizontal peach or pale orange stripe about 2/3 of the way up from the bottom of the piece. The stripes are mainly vertical, but broken into cells that may contain vertical or horizonal lines, or may be solid in color. Label on reverse gives title, "No Name," dimensions and $100 price.
O 2009-069.042 Picture, Woven		Horizontally oriented abstract weaving. Piece is woven on a background of denim blue, with the surface pattern in red, orange, yellow, green, magenta, purple and brown vertical stripes. The pattern is created by a series of single-angled lines placed in parallel half-way up the piece, then placed from the top upside-down to the center of the piece, resulting in the appearance of a matrix or network-like structure. Label on reverse gives title, "Colored Network," dimensions and $80 price.
O 2009-069.043 Picture, Woven		Horizontally oriented representational weaving. This work is constructed of two pieces, one placed in front of the other. The front piece is shows a large X woven in silver and gold metallic threads, with an appliqued crest of Charlemagne (a large C filled with a large Roman cross, with the word REX written from below the left horizontal bar of the cross outward), worked in gold metallic thread on purple fabric. The backing piece (attached to the front at the top) is a simple woven purple fabric, with artist's initials stitched in gold metallic thread at the lower left corner. The seam at the top is covered by a piece of woven purple and metallic gold ribbon. Label on reverse gives title, dimensions, $60 price. Second label gives artist name, address, title, "Charlemagnes's Signature No. 1," and information about the methods and materials used.
O 2009-069.044 Picture, Woven		Vertically oriented abstract weaving. This piece presents columnar strips, with each broken out at semi-random points into parallel vertical lines, parallel short horizontal lines, and/or solid singular stripes. Distinctive stripes run from magenta to red to watermelon red to orange red from left to right. The stripes appear on a background that is turquoise at the left side and gradually becomes more green, almost green-yellow at the right side. Label on reverse gives title, "Lines, Lines," dimensions, and $60 price.
O 2009-069.045 Picture, Woven		Horizontally oriented representational weaving. This piece presents a short saying, "You are very expressive and positive in word, act and feeling," set off with a smiley face at each end. The words are in black, woven or sewn onto a white background which is itself woven into a larger fabric that provides background and frame for the piece. Colors in this background fabric are muted pastel shades (tan, pink, green, orange, red) in wide, vertical stripes. The backing (reverse of the piece) is a darker blue and green. No label.

Catalog / Objectid / Objname		Description
O 2009-069.046 Picture, Woven		Square abstract weaving. Work is chiefly in peach, orange, reds and deep pinks. These are the colors of the vertical stripes that run evenly across the piece. Stripes are separated by a thinner, copper-brown dividing strip. Blue, blue-green, and green rectangles provide the rectangles that form the steps of the title. One rectangle is at the top of the center stripe; then four are spaced horizontally across the whole width of the piece; the remaining rectangles are used to place individual steps for stairs rising from the bottom left to the center top, and down again to the lower right corner. Label gives title, "Sparkling Steps," and dimensions. Fiber in piece includes metallic threads, giving it an overall sparkle effect.
O 2009-069.047 Picture, Woven		Vertically oriented representational weaving shows a barnyard with barn in the background. A smiling person is standing in the hayloft looking out. A chicken is flying down from the loft towards the ground. Two chickens peck the grass in the foreground. A woman in a blue dress with long braids clasps a chicken by the neck and appears to be carrying something in the other hand which could be a food bucket of some kind, or an outsized axe. The number "13" is stitched lightly to the center top. As with many of Held's works, the background consists of woeven vertical stripes in various colors, in this case, with changes in the center of the piece. At the level of the barn and above, stripes are blue, pink, yellow, red, green, holden, dark purple, and several shades of green. At the barnyard or farmyard level in the piece, stripes become shades of peach and tan, with a little puplse and green. From the chickens in the grass to the bottom of the piece, stripes become multiple colors of green and yellow-green, with some pink and blue as well. Label states, "Illustration from book written and illustrated by Shirley E. Held." The scene appears to have the same context as a number of other representational pieces in this collection, which suggests that some or all of the previously cataloged pieces may also appear in a published work by the artist.
O 2009-069.048 Picture, Woven		Vertically oriented weaving shows a variety of horizontal and vertical stripes, as well as little star stitches, all in shades of orange to gold. The background is chiefly in shades of olive green, in a series of vertical stripes running the length of the piece. There is one section that appears to be a series of star/double stars arranged in lines. Label gives dimensions, artist's name, and title, then a statement, "Morse Code," referring to the section consisting of patterned stars (dots) and double stars (dashes). The text translates as follows (with line breaks as shown): "An Earthy Adage You can pitch manure on the farm when it gets too deep. Janeann R Stout" No punctuation is indicated.
